From the President

Lutgarda L. Tolentino
ARSA President and Chair of the Council, 2014-2018
lutgardatolentino@gmail.com

Greetings from the ARSA President, 2014-2018! Let us be thankful for 2016 and welcome 2017 with open minds and hearts as we start to prepare for our 6th ARSA International Conference to be held in Hasanuddin University, Makassar, Indonesia in August 2018. Our theme for the next conference is “Building Sustainable Food Systems in Asia: Multiple Rural-Urban Linkages in a Globalizing World”. In June 2017 Newsletter, I will try to elaborate the domains of food systems. But for the time being, a food systems theme encompasses how food is produced, how it is packaged and processed, how it is distributed and retailed, and how it is consumed. These interlinked activities produce social, environmental and ethical outcomes, as well as food and nutrition security. Since most members of ARSA are scholars of rural studies, the papers that will be generated by our incoming 6th International Conference will deepen our understanding of food systems particularly for Asia.

During the ARSA Mid-Term Council Meeting held in Hasanuddin University last September 17-19, 2016, we decided to support the establishment of Journal Asian Rural Studies (JARS) by Hasanuddin University. It is our quasi-official journal. Our main role here is for selected ARSA members to serve as journal’s editorial board. This kind of arrangement with Hasanuddin University is beneficial for both organizations. On our part, we will have a quasi-journal with almost no cost at all except for the time to be expended by some of us who will become members of Editorial Board.

On the part of Hasanuddin University, it is assured of potential paper contributions coming from ARSA membership and services of Editorial Board. The maiden issue of JARS will be coming out in January 2017.

During the last ARSA's Council Meeting, we decided to propose to the General Assembly the formalization of two types of membership to our organization; the institutional and individual memberships. We have thought about this to simplify the categories of our membership and we have already proven through time that ARSA is a living organization as evidenced by its ability to conduct a regular international conference every four years, its publication of international conference proceedings, conduct of mid-term Council meeting, membership to IRSA's Council and other activities.

As 2017 proceeds, I will give you more updates of our activities and accomplishments as an organization. Once again, I look forward serving you until 2018.

LUTGARDA L. TOLENTINO, PhD
President and Chair of the Council,
2014-2018.

Retired Associate Professor, University of the Philippines Los Banos, and Incoming Honorary Associate Professor (2017-2019), School of Social Science, University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia.

My experience with ARSA and my best wishes

Guoqing Li, Institute of Urban and Environmental Studies, CASS, China

I started council member of the ARSA council from July 2002 in the mid-term council meeting in Nagoya University, 14 years ago. The meeting was hosted by dear Prof. Atsushi Kitahara. I'm very thankful for the invitation from Prof. Kitahara because no Chinese scholar participated ARSA activities until then. I still remember that I presented a paper titled "Problems of Farmers, Rural Society, and Agriculture in the 21st century China: With Special Reference to the WTO Membership.

Two years after, the 2nd International Conference of the Asian Rural Sociology

Association was held in Mataram University, Lombok island, Indonesia, March 27, 2004. The chair of the conference was Prof. Sayuti, vice victor of Mataram University. I presented my paper titled "Transformation of Chinese Rural Society in the 1990's: Resurgence and overall privatization reform of the village collective enterprises". However, I want to emphasize that one important decision was made at this meeting, that is the 3rd conference will be held in China in 2007

In order to prepare the 3rd conference, President Surichai organized the Symposium of the Asian Rural Sociology Association and its Mid-term Council Meeting at the Center for Social Development Studies at Faculty of Political Sciences, Chulalongkorn University, July 28-29 , 2006. Prof. Surichai applied for Japan Foundation for the conference support successfully. Prof.Surichai and his colleague, Prof.Kuroyanagi visited Beijing to arrange the program and venue before the conference and we worked together very happy.

The 3rd International Conference was hold in Sanhe City, Heibei Provence during August 8-10, 2007 successfully. The topic of the 3rd conference was Globalization, Competitiveness and Human Insecurity. More than 100 Chinese rural scholar and 100 rural researchers from Asian area participated the 3re conference. Prof. Lu xueyi, the president of Chinese Rural Sociology Association delivered a speech. Unfortunately he passed away in 2013. Prof. Li Peilin, the current vice president of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences(CASS) invited 5 directors from CASS to made key speech at meeting.

The 3rd conference was the main Chinese Contribution for ARSA. But I have to appreciate a lot of friends from other countries. Firstly, Professor Meizen Takahashi, the Honorary Professor of Tokyo University of Agriculture and Technology initiated donation from Japan Sociology Society to raise 1 million Yun to support China. It was very important support for the conference. When we publish the presentations of the Conference as a E-book by Social Sciences Academic Audio-Visual and Electronic Press in 2008, Prof. Hiroyuki Torigoe, the founder of ARSA and the current President of Otemae University also called financial support from Japan. The hard copy of the E-book was published in Thailand latter by Prof. Surichai WunGaeo , Prof.Haruo Kuroyanagi and me.

I appreciate ARSA very much because I studied a lot , not only Rural Sociology but also Asian culture as well as English. My family also got chances to visited Thailand, Philippines and Laos with me and we love these countries so much. I attended the X World Congress of Rural Sociology, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil in 2000 as well as the XI World Congress of Rural Sociology in Trondheim, Norway, 2004 which was sponsored by dear Professor Meizen Takahashi.

I attended the mid-term Council meeting of ARSA from September 17 to 20 2016 at the Hasanuddin University, Makassar, Sulawesi island, Indonesia. Dr.Yang Huan, the representative of Prof. Deng Dacai, the Chinese new council member from the Central China Normal University also joined the conference. I do hope more and more Chinese rural researcher join ARSA with their excellent effort.

Although my council member's term has finished, as the editorial board member of Journal of Asian Rural Studies, I would like to continue to contribute to ARSA.

I wish the conference in 2018 a complete success!

Guoqing Li, Ph.D.
ARSA Council Member 2002-2016

B. ARSA Organization

1. Amendment of ARSA Constitution

The ARSA Council discussed to amend ARSA's Constitution and By-Laws on membership and agreed to propose such to the General Assembly Meeting to be held during the 6th ARSA International Conference. The Council thought that there should only be two types of membership to ARSA. These are the institutional and individual memberships. There are two types of institutional membership such as regional organizations (e.g., Japan, Korea) and academic institutions. Individual memberships can be full memberships and student memberships. The Council further thought of removing "quasi-membership" as one type of ARSA's membership.

2. Membership fee system was proposed to support daily expense of the Association such as maintaining website. Membership fee can be collected by embedding it into the registration fee of international conference participants. The following fee system was proposed depending on country category.

Full membership fee: US$30/20/10

Student membership fee (1/2 of Full membership): US$15/10/5

4. IRSA Council Membership

Dr. Lutgarda Tolentino: Vice President of the IRSA (reappointed)

Dr. Motoki Akitsu, Council Member

Dr. Saleh Ali, Council Member

5. MOU with Hasanuddin University

Through the ARSA Council, ARSA signed an MOU with Hasanuddin University for collaborative work on education, research and journal publication between the ARSA and the Hasanuddin University. Agreed by the Council with minor modification based on the understanding that activities related to the cooperative work with academic institute is already codified in the Constitution.

4. Other Business

* Launching a new journal by the Hasanuddin University

Prof Saleh Ali explained their plan to launch a new journal called Journal of Asian Rural Studies (JARS) during the Council meeting. Council agreed to support the editorial activities related to the journal. Further details will be discussed later related to editorial board, ARSA's official recognition etc.
